We all know what it's like when the Internet goes down. Tasks we take for granted as being easy to complete are suddenly more challenging. In the same way, the effects of nervous system tension and discomfort we experience in our daily lives – whether from stress, overwork, or exercise – sometimes make it more difficult for us to get through what the day brings.

Our nervous system acts as our body's control and communications center. Supporting its health is essential for optimal well-being and functioning at full capacity.

MediHerb's Nervagesic is a gentle, effective formulation designed to ease nervous system discomfort by supporting healthy nervous system tissue and promoting relaxation in the nervous system and muscles. ## What is Nervagesic?

This innovative new herbal formula from MediHerb combines California Poppy, Jamaican Dogwood and Corydalis.

California Poppy, known locally as Cup of Gold, was used by Native Americans to promote healthy, restful sleep. It has also been prized since ancient times in traditional Chinese medicine.

Corydalis is another time-honored Chinese herb, used for almost any type of physical discomfort relief. It may also assist in improving sleep patterns.

Jamaican Dogwood is valued for its calming effect on muscles and its soothing effects when feeling emotionally out of balance.*
