Black Cumin Seed Forte
Herbal Support for a Modern Lifestyle*

Black Cumin seed, often referred to as the “seed of blessing”, has been used for centuries in the Middle East and Southeast Asia† to assist in:

- Supporting healthy digestive function
- Relieving occasional mild digestive discomfort, including bloating and flatulence
- Supporting healthy liver function and metabolism of fats
- Providing antioxidant activity
- Maintaining general health and well-being*

Black Cumin Seed Forte is a multi-action, high-strength formula (400 mg extract from 2 g seed), that provides increased scope to support health and well-being.*

Traditional Use

Black Cumin seeds are traditionally used as a flavoring, to improve digestion and to provide warmth‡. They are said to be useful in calming and strengthening digestion in Ayurvedic preparations†. Black Cumin seed is also known for its traditional use as an aromatic spice and carminative, which relates to its actions in aiding digestion and providing relief of mild bloating and flatulence.*

Black Cumin Seed is also used in Ayurvedic herbal preparations to support liver metabolism, which helps to metabolize lipids.*

Black Cumin Seed Forte may benefit patients with:

- Poor Diet – patients overcoming modern lifestyle challenges who may have concerns about their diet and energy levels.
- Digestive Issues – patients presenting with symptoms of poor digestive function, e.g. mild bloating and flatulence.
- Metabolic Challenges – patients should use in conjunction with a healthy diet and exercise for normal metabolism.
- Liver Issues – patients seeking to support normal fat metabolism through healthy liver function.*

How Black Cumin Seed Forte Supports Your Health:

Supports digestion and the metabolism of fats:
- As with traditional Ayurvedic herbal preparations in India, herbs such as Black Cumin seed are used to promote “digestive fire”. Enhancing digestive fire was traditionally used to support overall vitality, healthy immune system function and assist in the elimination of potential undigested food.*

Metabolic support:
- Black Cumin seed may also provide metabolic support for those consuming a typical Western diet.4*

Supports liver function:
- Black Cumin seed is traditionally used to support the healthy functioning of the liver.4,5*
